Directions

Tübingen main station → Computer Science Department

(1) By car
Parking at the department is not an issue, as there are parking lots available at the department (see map). Other than that, Tübingen is not the most car driver friendly town. So be prepared for a lot of speed cameras, one-way streets and tempo limitations.

(2) By bus
Practically all bus lines stop at the main station Tübingen Hauptbahnhof, including line 2. If you take line 2 (direction WHO Ulmenweg not Mühlbachäcker) it will get you straight to the department at station Sand Drosselweg. The walk from there is less than 5 minutes. You will have to buy tickets inside the bus at the ticket machine. A regular ticket costs around 2.50€ and is valid for 2 hours inside of Tübingen. The daily ticket costs around 5€.

(3) By foot
Since Tübingen is relatively small, most places can be reached by foot. A walk from the main station to the department will take you roughly 45 minutes.
Where to find us at the Computer Science Department

Coming from Drosselweg, go through the main gate and turn left. Walk across the parking lot and go behind the building labeled Sand 6. There is a door with a dial pad where you can select (with arrow buttons) which office you want to ring. We will then open the door for you.
